Projects

PXCO - Live || GitHub - Single page image sharing application based on the site VSCO.

- Visitors can explore images from the community and check out specific pages, while members have additional feeds of images from users they follow and specific images that they like.
- Users can create accounts with the protection of a secure frontend and backend authentication to protect their images and account pages.
- Stores the user uploads and profile pictures using AWS for better storage and ability to quickly access assets.

Go, Budgie, Go! - Live || GitHub - Endless runner game featuring my dog Budgie as he chases squirrels through Brooklyn.

- Made using vanilla JavaScript and HTML5 Canvas.

Experience

Ray Brown Productions, Junior Art Director and Media Manager, March 2014 - November 2017

- Designed promotional material that was both eye-catching and culturally relevant, and implemented these designs with HTML and the Adobe Creative Suite.
- Collected, processed, and archived digital assets from our roster of artists around the world, which I then organized for the front end of our website for optimum UX and design.
- Made well composed documents to pitch to clients varying from high fashion to celebrity to advertising.

Neiman Marcus, On-Set Digital Technician, July 2012 - October 2017

- Collaborated with Art Directors to process the images in line with their vision, from basic color correction to in-depth compositing and retouching.
- Created a pagination of the work being made in real time on set to give the crew an idea of what the final magazine layout will be.

Freelance Retouching and Image Processing, March 2011 - August 2017

- Managed an assortment of client needs varying from small-scale photographers to large e-commerce businesses.
- Processed, retouched, and archived digital media, worked on my client's schedule and specific needs.
